

25th Annual Current Trends in Family Medicine 2022

Family Medicine Update

February 4, 2022

Family Medicine practitioners need to review and update their knowledge in many areas of medicine each year. This conference is designed for physicians, mid-level practitioners and nurses to address clinically important, key primary care topics. The conference is also expected to result in improved competence in making an appropriate diagnosis, and in providing effective treatment and/or referrals with an overall goal of improving patient outcomes.

Virtual lectures will be followed by the opportunity for questions and answers.
